DON'T GROW BALD, YOUNG MAN!

Take Care of Your Hair While You Have Hair to Take Care of.

It's a safe bet to one that the young man who uses Parisian Sage as an occasional hair dressing will never grow bald.

There's a reason, of course, and it's a very good and sufficient one.

Dandruff germs cause falling hair, and falling hair means thinner hair, and in due time baldness.

Parisian Sage prevents baldness by destroying the cause of baldness—the little persistent, voracious dandruff germ.

If you have dandruff or itching scalp, it means that dandruff germs are sapping the vitality from the roots of your hair.

Get rid of all hair troubles by using Parisian Sage. It does not contain poisonous sugar of lead or any harmful ingredients. It is a scientific preparation that abolishes dandruff, stops falling hair and scalp itch, and makes hair grow lustrous and luxuriant.

Many young women as well as men are growing bald, and from the same cause—the dandruff germ.

Use delightful, refreshing Parisian Sage; it nourishes the hair roots, if the roots are not dead, and brings to every user a head of glorious hair—radiant and fascinating.

Large bottle for 50 cents at drug stores and toilet counter. See that you get Parisian Sage.

Pe-ru-na for Rheumatism

A great many cases of rheumatism take no other remedy than Pe-ru-na. I am in receipt of testimonials frequently from rheumatic subjects who have been benefited by the use of Pe-ru-na. A great many recoveries have been made, although I have never recommended Pe-ru-na for rheumatism especially. It is easy for me to see, however, how Pe-ru-na could be used as a remedy for rheumatism with very excellent results.

Acid Stomach Makes Rheumatism.

The trouble is, first, with digestion. The digestive organs have not done their work properly. Or if they have, the appropriate organs are sluggish. Or the excretory organs. Now, what I should do is to give Pe-ru-na in these cases.

First, because, Pe-ru-na will certainly stimulate digestion, sharpen the appetite, increase the relish of food. Second, Pe-ru-na will quicken the circulation of blood, thereby making appropriation better. The food after it is digested must be taken up by the glands and carried to the tissues where it is needed.

Third, Pe-ru-na will stimulate the excretory functions, the kidneys, the solitary glands, and the liver, as well as the bowels.

Fourth, should there be a catarrhal condition of the stomach or bowels, rheumatism is almost inevitable. A mucous membrane affected by catarrh cannot perform its function properly, either in furnishing the appropriate digestive juices or in absorbing the product of digestion. Pe-ru-na, therefore, is an excellent remedy, as it tends to remove the catarrh and to produce a normal condition of the mucous membrane.

Pe-ru-na Protects Against Rheumatism.

A remedy that will do these things does protect the system against rheumatism. Even after the rheumatism has begun it is helpful, if not absolutely necessary, that such a remedy be taken, in order to prevent the further accumulation of the morbid materials in the blood.

This is the way I should treat rheumatism. I do not regard Pe-ru-na as a specific for rheumatism. Not by any means. But it is a remedy for digestion, assimilation and excretion. When these functions are properly stimulated and regulated the cause of rheumatism is removed, and in this way much benefit is derived. Should any one afflicted with chronic rheumatism of acute rheumatism begin the use of Pe-ru-na, after they have taken a bottle or so, if they wish they can consult me.

Wants Negro Marchers.

Not alone by managing a magnificent ball, and by responding to a toast as guest of honor at a banquet, will Giles Jackson celebrate the inauguration of Governor Wilson, whose election he strove for with all his might and main. He plans also a march of thousands of colored men in the great parade, in full uniform.

Just back from Washington yesterday, Giles told how he hopes to have one or two companies of marchers of his race from Norfolk and two or three from Richmond. A section in the line of march has, he says, been assigned to them.

He needs some funds, and will ask white friends in Virginia to help them. The parade of the National Negro Woodrow Wilson League will be incomplete unless its participants march in uniform, and it is hoped to get the money to buy suitable togas. Said Giles: "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee."

Informed yesterday that Washington folks are speaking of him as the Richmond negro millionaire. Giles said: "No, sir, you know I ain't got that much money. You has to go away from home to hear the news."

"But," he added, "that's a pretty good advertisement for a man away from home."

NEGROES TO HAVE INAUGURAL BALL

Giles B. Jackson Saves the Day for Washington Lovers of Terpsichore.

TICKETS LIKE HOT CAKES

Thousands Sold—Plans Also for March of Colored Men in Parade.

Under the guidance of Giles B. Jackson, the colored "millionaire" of Richmond, and president of the National Negro Woodrow Wilson League, a big inaugural ball will be given in Washington after all. Jackson has planked down the real cash for the rental of Convention Hall, the largest auditorium in Washington, and will pull off an affair that will make former efforts in the Pension Building look like the Republican party does to-day.

The affair will be had on the night of March 5. It has been postponed for a night because a banquet is to be given on March 4 by the National Woodrow Wilson League in honor of Giles Jackson, its president, at one of the lodge halls of the city. Tickets are being sold at $2.50 each, and it is stated that more than 5,000 have already been sold. Long lines of colored people stand in the rain for hours to get to the box office and secure passbooks for the event.

Call It Banquet.

But it will not be called a ball. Jackson said yesterday that in view of the objection of the President-elect to the official ball, which has been abandoned by the inaugural committee, done by the celebration of the negro league had best be called a banquet.

Still, a ball by any other name will be a ball, under the circumstances. The ball will be light and music and refreshments. No bar has yet been placed on the turkey trot, the bunny bug, the grizzly glide or the numerous wiggles of the day.

Governor and Mrs. Wilson have been invited. No acceptance have yet been received from them, but it is not supposed they will permit themselves to be dazzled by the splendor of the occasion. The public reception will be over on the preceding night, and they will be made welcome if they will, but visit convention hall.

MAKES HEADWATERS FOR SCHOOL WORK

Educators Confer at Capitol on Methods of Accrediting Institutions.

INSPECTION WILL BE HAD

Diplomas Intended to Mean Something—In Accordance With Rating.

A conference of Virginia educators was held at the Capitol yesterday for the purpose of evolving standards of instruction in the secondary schools of the State. Especial reference was had to high schools, the object being to make a rating of the schools so that the public may know what the children in any particular school are getting.

One high school looks like another to the average citizen, who merely hears the name and is convinced that the institution in his locality is just as good as any other high school. But there are all sorts and grades of such schools, some of which give a complete four-year course of instruction, and others give practically nothing at all.

There are colleges presenting graduates with diplomas certifying that they are bachelors of arts, when they have received a course lower in effect than that obtainable free at the local public high school. This situation has been demonstrated to exist in Virginia. The parents have wasted money in paying for the "college" education.

Must Standardize Work.
Again, there are honest differences. Some schools emphasize certain lines of study, and do not give what is regarded as a well-balanced, complete course. Most of these institutions, colleges, private schools, academies, public schools, are willing and anxious to co-operate with any effort toward standardization, so that the public may know just what a school has to give, and so that diplomas of graduation will be sufficient without further trouble to gain entrance to higher institutions of learning.

So it was that an association was formed, with representatives from each Southern State, to effect a standard. The work must be done in the State first, and then unified through further conferences between the different States. That for Virginia was done yesterday, and great progress was made.

It is intended that a certificate from any particular school will at once show the preparation of the student for entrance to a college, medical or scientific school, or university.

Members of Conference.

Dr. Charles G. Maphis, professor of secondary education at the University of Virginia, is president of the conference for Virginia, and presided at yesterday's meeting. Dr. R. E. Blackwell, president of Randolph-Macon College, and Dr. W. M. Black, principal of the Lynchburg High School, are the other members of the general conference from Virginia—Dr. Maphis representing State institutions, Dr. Blackwell non-State institutions, and Dr. Black the public schools.

With them they have associated J. Carter Walker, head master of Woodberry Forest Academy, representing private schools; Professor E. U. Ruff, president of the Fredericksburg Normal and Industrial School for Women, representing normal schools; and Dr. C. Stearnes, Superintendent of Public Instruction, representing the State Board of Education.

With these commissioners they met yesterday the following educators: Dr. J. A. Morehead, president of Roanoke College; Dr. H. T. Graham, of the University of Virginia; Dr. F. W. Boatright, president of Richmond College; Dr. J. S. Wilson, of William and Mary College; Dr. H. G. Campbell, of Washington and Lee University; Dr. J. P. McConnell, of Emory and Henry College; Dr. John E. Williams, of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute; Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the State Female Normal School at Farmville; Dr. R. E. Gaines, of Richmond College; Professor Julian A. Burruss, president of the Harrisonburg Normal and Industrial School for Women; Dr. J. M. Page, dean of the faculty of the University of Virginia; R. Chesterman, secretary to the State Board of Education; J. B. Terrell and E. E. Worrell, of the Department of Public Instruction.

Will Review Work.

The meeting will be called to order in the Jefferson Hotel Auditorium at 10 o'clock. The president, Carrington, of the Chamber of Commerce, will begin the business of the evening by presenting his annual review of the chamber's work. The address will embrace the reports of Business Manager, W. T. Dabney, Secretary R. A. Dunlop and Treasurer F. D. Dunlop.

The annual election of officers will take place immediately following President Carrington's report. Former president, George W. Carrington, will preside while the election is in progress. Following long-established practice the chamber will offer the presidency to Mr. Carrington for another year. He was elected in January, 1912, and has just completed his first year's service. With one of two exceptions, former presidents of the Chamber of Commerce have served two terms.

With the president will be elected, in all probability, all the present officers. These are, besides Mr. Carrington, W. T. Reed, vice-president; E. C. Laird, second vice-president; R. A. Dunlop, secretary; F. D. Dunlop, treasurer; W. T. Dabney, business manager; and E. S. Goodman, traffic manager.

Elect Ten New Directors.

New elections will be confined to the selection of ten new directors to replace a like number that is vacated annually by the by-laws. These provide that no director shall be permitted to serve more than five years continuously. Under this ruling the terms of several of the directors have expired.

The election will be followed by the two addresses of the evening, Bishop O'Connell speaking first. The meeting will adjourn after Mr. Montague's speech. Notices addressed yesterday to members of the Chamber of Commerce ask for as large an attendance as possible, and stress the importance of the meeting.

MEETS NEXT AT GREENVILLE.
Traffic Manager E. S. Goodman will to-morrow present his annual report to the inland trades committee of the Chamber of Commerce. The traffic manager is elected by this committee and reports to it. All other officers of the chamber, as well as the directors, are elected by the chamber membership assembled in annual meeting.

CHAMBER WILL HEAR MONTAGUE

Congressman-Elect and Bishop O'Connell Speakers at Annual Meeting.

HOLD ANNUAL ELECTION

Members Will Re-Elect President Carrington and Choose Ten New Directors.

Congressman-elect Andrew Jackson Montague will address the membership of the Chamber of Commerce at its annual meeting Tuesday night in the Jefferson Hotel Auditorium. He will speak on the subject, "Industrial and Commercial Relations of Richmond and its Representative in Congress."

The other speaker of the evening will be Bishop Dennis J. O'Connell, of the Catholic Diocese of Richmond, who will address the meeting on the subject, "The Chamber of Commerce as a Factor in the Material Interests of Richmond."

For many years there will be no speeches by officers and members of the chamber, save the annual address of the president.

The annual gathering of the membership is by far the most important of the chamber meetings during the year, and attracts a large attendance. Its importance is gained from the fact that it elects officers for the coming year, reviews the work of the Chamber of Commerce for the past twelve months, and passes upon recommendations for work in the immediate future.

Distinguished Speakers.
In arranging the program of this year's annual meeting the officers of the chamber sought to eliminate as far as possible the tedious speaking which prolonged former meetings far into the night. The two speakers who have accepted invitations to make addresses have a State-wide reputation as men who speak interestingly and to the point.

By way of his imminent service as Congressman from this district, Mr. Montague's address on the relation of Richmond to its representative in Congress will prove of particular interest. Richmond gave Mr. Montague a handsome majority in the present primary and was responsible in large part for his election.

Bishop O'Connell has just rounded out his first year's service as head of the Catholic Diocese of Richmond. He has from the beginning taken a deep interest in welfare work in the city and has followed with interest the various municipal changes that have occurred since his induction into office.

Will Review Work.

MAYOR TAKES WHACK AT FILTHY STREETS

Says Complaints From Citizens Are Justified in the Main.

PEOPLE MUST CO-OPERATE

Cohn's Department Not Big Enough to Handle Ever-Growing Problem.

"Hello, is that the Mayor?"

"Yes."

"Well, Mr. Mayor, I want you to send Mr. Cohn right out to my house on Kensington Avenue to empty my garbage can. It hasn't been emptied for six weeks."

"But, madame, Mr. Cohn is the superintendent. He doesn't remove garbage. I'll get him to send one of his street cleaners."

"I don't care who you send, but if somebody doesn't empty my garbage can right away I'll ask my husband to get a new cleaner."

Mayor Ainslie calmly hung up the phone and turned around to say: "Right now I want to say something about the Street Cleaning Department."

"There is no one thing that causes as much complaint from citizens as the uncleanness of our streets, and the failure promptly to remove ashes and garbage from residences. I mention the two things as one, because they are supposed to be attended to by one department—the Street Cleaning Department. I have given special consideration to this question before and since I became Mayor, and I fully admit that the complaints and criticisms are, in the main, justifiable."

Department Insufficient.
"I have recently discussed the matter with Superintendent Cohn, and I understand him to be of the same opinion. These highly objectionable conditions obtain because of the insufficiency of the Street Cleaning Department, both in men and appliances, and the total failure of our citizens to co-operate in the effort to keep the city clean. I regard the latter as the most important factor, for it is obvious that no matter how large and well equipped the department may be, the rest of us, if we set our hearts on it, as we sometimes seem to do, could still manage to keep the streets and alleys dirty. For instance, the litter, waste paper and sweepings of all of our 27,000-odd stores and homes are carefully deposited every day in our streets and alleys and left to the tender mercies of the wind and the cleaning force. Of course, much of this could be burned in our stoves and furnaces; but we won't do it, and consequently inquire of our neighbor, 'Haven't we a dirty city?'

Citizens Partly to Blame.
"Why certainly we have, why shouldn't we? Don't we do all we can to make it so? Do we do anything to keep it from being so? We employ one man to remove and dispose of the ashes and garbage and to clean up after each 200 of us, at the cost of 2 cents a week to
